Global Learning Objectives

1. Review the in-office ancillary services exception as they relate to the Stark laws.
2. Review state and federal anti-kickback laws and regulations.
3. Determine what changes, if any, your practice will need to make regarding the federal government's No Surprises Act.
4. Review recent governmental health care fraud enforcement activity.
5. Determine what steps a physician should take as it relates to a federal government investigation.

Mitigation Statement

All relevant financial relationships were mitigated by the program committee prior to the activity

The intent of this disclosure is to allow TOA the opportunity to mitigate any relevant financial relationships to assure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all of its CME activities. All faculty and planners of TOA-sponsored activities are expected to disclose to TOA all financial relationships with any ineligible company. An indication of the participant's disclosure appears after his or her name as does the commercial company or institution that provided the support. TOA does not view the existence of these disclosed interests or commitments as necessarily implying bias or decreasing the value of the author's participation at the meeting.

Financial Disclosures

An indication of the participant's disclosure appears after his or her name as does the ineligible company or institution that provided the support. TOA does not view the existence of these disclosed interests or commitments as necessarily implying bias or decreasing the value of the author's participation at the meeting.

Ineligible company: any entity whose primary business is producing, marketing, selling, re-selling, or distributing healthcare products used by or on patients.

Examples of financial relationships:

- Employee
- researcher
- consultant
- advisor
- speaker
- independent contractor (including contracted research)
- royalties or patent beneficiary
- executive role
- ownership interest

Individual stocks and stock options should be disclosed; diversified mutual funds do not need to be disclosed. Research funding from ineligible companies should be disclosed by the principal or named investigator even if that individual's institution receives the research grant and manages the funds.

Financial relationships would include those within the past 24 months with ineligible companies of the person involved in the activity.
